Empty Easter Egg Hunt

The students will hunt for an empty plastic Easter egg to symbolize the empty tomb. Before the lesson, fill the eggs with random items. Leave one empty egg for every child who is playing. When they find the empty egg, they will bring it to you for a small prize.

Memory Verse Obstacle Course

The students can help you prepare for this activity by stuffing the eggs with the verse cards and building their own obstacle course. They will need to build an obstacle course with four stages. At the end of each stage, they need to pick up an egg. The challenge is holding all your eggs while you are running the course. Once they have completed the course, they need to put their memory verse in order. . "He is not here; he has risen, just as he said. Come and see the place where he lay." Matthew 28:6

Resurrection Rolls

Have the students follow the directions and prepare their own rolls. Give them each a small piece of aluminum foil to put their rolls on to bake.

Empty Easter Egg Hunt

Game Directions:

Your leader has hidden Easter eggs for an Easter egg hunt. However, this hunt is a little bit different. Instead of looking for Easter eggs with prizes in them, you are looking for the Easter egg that is empty! Just like the tomb on that third day. When you find the empty egg, bring it to your leader for a special prize.

Memory Verse Obstacle Course

Game Directions:

1. Get four plastic Easter eggs for every person playing.
2. The memory verse is divided into four parts and printed on cards. Cut it out.
3. Place each part of the memory verse into a plastic Easter egg.
4. Create an obstacle course with four different stages. At the end of each stage, place an Easter egg.
5. The goal is to run the obstacle course and after completing each stage, you must grab the Easter egg and carry them with you through the obstacle course.
6. At the end of the course, open the eggs and put the memory verse in the correct order. "He is not here; he has risen, just as he said. Come and see the place where he lay." Matthew 28:6
7. Say your memory verse to your leader.

Other ideas:

- Time yourself and try to beat your own time.
- Make it a race!
- Make it a rule that if you drop your egg you must start all over again.
